

COMMUNITY OUTREACH TRUSTEE

Black Beauty's Animal Sanctuary

Once BBAS becomes fully operational we will be looking to appoint an 'Outreach Worker'. A 'Community Outreach Trustee' will be needed to join the management team of a small animal sanctuary based in Negril Jamaica. We have recently developed a three (3) year business plan which will require a trustee who has strong links in the local community.

This is very much a hands on role where you will be required to converse with other professionals at all levels.

The outreach worker will bring all their links with animal welfare professionals and knowledge of the local area together. You will help to raise the charities profile in order to attract outreach services in order to support our cause which include;

- Identify animal welfare professionals within the community whose service will be paramount to our cause for example, veterinary care
- Develop & maintain strong working relationships with external professional and organisations that will facilitate and benefit the cause
- Keep the cause up-dated to any outreach events that can benefit the cause for example; spay and neutering programmes, adoption and community events and procedures
- Must have a passion for animal welfare!
- Adhere to the charities confidentiality agreement

What is in it for the volunteer? The role of the trustee is challenging but yet rewarding. You will meet like minded people working as part of a team. You will directly see your expertise in this field turn into a thriving sanctuary for neglected, abused and unwanted animals. You can't get more rewarding than that!

What impact will the opportunity have? The role will have a huge impact on the aims and direction of the project and therefore the animal welfare activities in the local area.
